

Henderson Avalanche

Date

Sat, 03/02/2024 - 16:15

Activity

Snowmobiling

Watched a large avalanche come down the big Avi path on the east side of Henderson. The avalanche covered many snowmobile tracks from that afternoon. The crown varied and extended for 1,000 feet below the summit ridge. It was a huge volume of snow that reached Fisher Creek. The snowmobilers were lucky, as it was large enough to be buried deep.

Region

Cooke City

Location (from list)

Henderson Mountain

Observer Name

Mike Carpenter