

Extreme Winds in Dutchman Basin

Date

Activity

Snowmobiling

Figured I would send in some observations as we were out yesterday in Whits Lake back in Dutchman's Basin and with extreme wind the snow was getting moved around and the wind was putting snow in unusual locations. This was a wind loaded hill but a very shallow angle hill maybe 20-25 degrees. Snow broke on an old layer before this past weekend's storm, that slab was probably 14-24" thick in spots. Snow was generally stable other than wind blown spots.
