

4-6 inches of new snow above 9,000 ft combined with moderate northwest winds loaded upper elevation, leeward slopes. Fresh wind slab are resting over a firm ice crust on sun exposed slopes. This slide broke 4-6 inches deep, 50 feet wide and was triggered from the ridgeline. Although small in size, this slide could have carried a skier into unpleasant terrain. Photo GNFAC

Advisory Region
Northern Madison
Longitude

-111.40W

Latitude

45.35N

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Advisory for Sun Mar 31, 2013

Northern Madison, 2013-03-30